
Paeonies 2021

Paeonies have a long and rich history where the flower has a royal background dating back 1400 years to China and other Asian countries. In Chinese, the name translates to the “most beautiful flower.” This “Queen of Flowers” has a very short flowering season (7-10 days), but they make up for their short cycle through their fragrance and beauty. Most are herbaceous perennial plants, but some are woody shrubs. Paeonies bloom from late spring through to early summer, depending on climate and variety and are best planted in colder weather.
